CLASSMATES :

The first Triennial Report of the Secretary is herewith submitted to you. I have endeavored to make it as full and correct a record as the answers sent me would allow, and have added such information as I could obtain from other sources. You will doubtless find many errors in the following pages, and will oblige me by calling them to my attention. To those who answered the questions, I hold myself responsible ; but, where no replies have been made to my frequent and urgent solicitations, I disclaim all responsibility. The playful answers to the matrimonial interrogatory were many ; but, as there was a general sameness in them, I have not deemed it expedient to print them, though by doing so the dull monotony of the record might perhaps have been relieved. The meagre replies, in many cases, have been discouraging, and while it was not expected that the short time since graduation would find you all arrived at the pinnacle of fame and fortune, I did hope to receive more satisfactory replies than some of the Class have made, by stating simply that their lives since graduation had been devoid of any interest to the Class.

The usual statistics concerning marriages, and births of children, will be found chronicled at the end of the record of the Class. It is hoped that the Class in the next report will make a better showing in this respect.

In the notices of the deceased members of the Class will be found brief abstracts of their lives, and tributes to their memory, prepared by their nearest friends.

The condition of the Class Fund is very satisfactory. While some of the instalments are still unpaid, the subscriptions have, as a rule, been promptly paid, though in some cases a gentle reminder has been necessary. We cannot, however, feel any pride in the amount subscribed to the Class Subscription Fund, in comparison with what other classes have done. I would refer you to the statements in the report concerning these funds, for more detailed information.

The Class Baby, too, claims your attention to such facts as to his birth and good fortune as are given in this report.

Wishing you all possible success in the coming three years, and that at the end of that time you will furnish me with abundant material for the next report, I am very sincerely yours,

RECORD OF THE CLASS.

JULY, 1874—JUNE, 1877.

JAMES LLOYD ABBOT. Born in Roxbury, Mass., Aug. 19, 1852. Soon after graduation went into his father's office (J. L. Abbot & Co., cotton brokers), at 110 Pearl Street, New York City; remained a few months in New York; then went to Mobile, Ala., to learn the cotton business, and entered the office of Lyman C. Dorgan, cotton buyer, where he has since remained. (Has made no report to the Secretary.)

WILLIAM FITZHALE ABBOT. Born in Boston, Mass., April 27, 1853. Has been engaged in teaching since graduation, from September, 1874, to February, 1876, in G. W. C. Noble's private school for boys, 40 Winter Street, Boston. Owing to a very severe attack of rheumatic fever, was obliged to give up work until October, 1876, when he began giving instruction to private pupils in Cambridge; and in January, 1877, joined Sewall in the Indianapolis Classical School, started by the latter in September, 1876.

RICHARD MINOT ALLEN. Born in Bangor, Me., March 20, 1853. Has been a clerk in the Prescott Insurance Company, 56 Devonshire Street, Boston, since graduation.

EUGENE NELSON ASTON. Born in Middletown, Conn., Nov. 22, 1851. Devoted the first two years after graduation to private tutoring; part of the time in Woodstock, Vt.; in the fall of 1876 returned to Cambridge and entered the Harvard Law School, where he has since remained; will resume his studies at the Law School next year.

FRANCIS EATON BABCOCK. Born in Lowell, Mass., Feb. 14, 1852. Soon after graduation went to Europe, where he remained about a year, travelling through Belgium, Germany, Austria, Italy, Switzerland, and part of England ; since then has resided in Boston, and has devoted himself principally to reading history, occasionally taking part in examinations at an academy in the vicinity of Boston, which he took charge of for a short time.

WALTER BAKER. Born in Medford, Mass., Aug. 12, 1849. Has been studying theology at the Episcopal Theological School in Cambridge since graduation, and will complete the course this year, receiving the degree of B.D. ; after this will probably take charge of the Church of the Messiah, in Brooklyn, N.Y., during his brother's absence in Europe.

WILLIAM HOWARD BAKER. Born in Coatesville, Pa., Sept. 2, 1852. Went to Europe in August, 1874, and remained there eighteen months, one year of which he spent in Heidelberg, Germany, attending law lectures ; on his return to Philadelphia entered the law office of George L. Crawford, Esq., and has attended for two terms the full course of lectures on law at the Pennsylvania University ; will be admitted to the bar June 25 of this year, and will practise law in Philadelphia.

CHARLES PARKER BANCROFT. Born in St. Johnsbury, Vt., Jan. 11, 1852. Since graduation has been studying medicine at the Harvard Medical School ; in January, 1877, after examination, received an appointment as "interne" at the City Hospital in Boston, and immediately began his duties ; will remain at the Hospital until July 1, 1878, the end of the term of service, when he will receive the degree of M.D.

HENRY HUDSON BARRETT. Born in Malden, Mass., March 10, 1851. In the fall of 1874 returned to Cambridge, and began the study of law at the Harvard Law School, where he has since been attending lectures.

GIORGIO ANACLETO CORRADO BENDELARI. Born in Naples, Italy, July 25, 1851. In the fall of 1874 began the study of law at the Harvard Law School, remaining in Cambridge during the year ; the first two or three months of the year 1874-75 also took charge of Professor Nash's classes in Italian and Spanish, and did considerable private tutoring during the year ; in June, 1875, was awarded the John Thornton Kirkland Fellowship in History, for three years, and in October following went to Leipzig, was matriculated at the University as soon as the term began, and has been pursuing his studies since in Europe, the past year at Jena, Sachsen, with reference to the degree of Ph.D. in history, which he will apply for after the course of three years' study is finished. (No report to the Secretary since January, 1876.)

THOMAS SIMMS BETTENS. 'Born in Vevay, Ind., March 6, 1851. The first year after graduation remained in Cambridge and engaged in private tutoring; the last two years has been teaching Greek and history at Lake Forest Academy, a college preparatory school for boys at Lake Forest, Ill., where he will remain another year.

WOODBURY BLAIR. Born in St. Louis, Mo., September, 1851. Was at the Harvard Law School the first year after graduation; from Aug. 1, 1875, studied law in Washington, D.C., and was admitted, Nov. 11, 1875, before the Supreme Court for the District of Columbia, as an attorney and counsellor-at-law; has since been practising law with his father, Hon. Montgomery Blair, at 456 Louisiana Avenue, Washington, D.C.; is attorney for the Citizen's National Bank of that city.

GEORGE ANDREW BLANEY. Born in Roxbury, Mass., April 16, 1853. Was at home in Woburn, Mass., until September, 1875, when he began the study of law at the Harvard Law School; has continued at that school since, and will be graduated this summer, receiving the degree of LL.B.

ERASTUS BRAINERD. Born in Middletown, Conn., Feb. 25, 1855. Has been since October, 1874, with James R. Osgood, & Co., Publishers, Boston; in June, 1876, was appointed curator of the Gray Collection of Engravings, but resigned in March, 1877; prepared several books for Messrs. Osgood & Co. in 1876, and has done some miscellaneous work besides; from a feeling of modesty, no doubt, does not furnish the Secretary with any further information as to his literary work.

JOHN WINTERS BRANNAN. Born in Cincinnati, Ohio, Feb. 14, 1853. Since graduation has been engaged in the study of medicine at the Harvard Medical School; in April, 1877, received an appointment as Surgical House Pupil at the Massachusetts General Hospital, in Boston, for one year, beginning Aug. 1, 1877; will receive degree of M.D. after this term of service.

GEORGE RUSSELL BRIGGS. Born in Salem, Mass., June 8, 1853. The first year after graduation was a student at the Lawrence Scientific School; the last two years has been a tutor in mathematics in the Academical Department of the College, and is ex officio a member of the Faculty.

JOHN CHAPIN BRINSMADE. Born in Springfield, Mass., April 24, 1852. Since graduation has been assistant teacher at the well-known boarding school in Washington, Conn., familiarly known as the "Gunnery," of which Frederick W. Gunn (Yale, 1837) is master; October 4, 1876, was married in Washington, Conn., by the Rev. Willis S. Colton, to Mary Gold Gunn, daughter of Frederick William and Abigail Irene Gunn.

ALEXANDER PORTER BROWNE. Born in Washington, D.C., June 11, 1853. Entered the Harvard Law School in the fall of 1874, and was graduated therefrom June 28, 1876, receiving the degree of LL.B.; October 27, 1876, was admitted, after examination before the Supreme Court holden at Boston, to practise law in all the courts of the Commonwealth, and is now practising law in the office of Browne & Holmes, 82 Water Street, Boston; has done some work during the past year in preparing the 4th edition of "Browne on the Statute of Frauds," edited by his father, Causten Browne, Esq.

CHARLES THOMAS BUFFUM. Born in Brooklyn, N.Y., Feb. 8, 1853. Soon after graduation began studying medicine at the College of Physicians and Surgeons in New York City, from which he was graduated March 1, 1877, receiving the degree of M.D.; was appointed a short time afterwards, after an examination in which he came out first of fourteen applicants, to a position on the surgical staff at Roosevelt Hospital in New York City; at present is Junior-Assistant Surgeon in that Hospital, which position he holds for six months, then becoming Senior-Assistant Surgeon for six months, and afterwards House Surgeon for the same time at the same Hospital.

HENRY MORGAN BURDETT. Born in Brooklyn, N.Y., Feb. 26, 1853. In July, 1874, went into the office of his father, senior member of the firm of Burdett & Pond, commission merchants, 174 Water Street, New York City, where he has been since; has been, since Nov. 9, 1874, a member of 7th Regiment National Guard of New York.

WILLIAM APPLETON BURNHAM. Born in Boston, Mass., Feb. 17, 1852. During the first year attended some of the lectures at the Harvard Law School; the next year took a special course in architecture at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, in Boston, and in August, 1876, went to Europe to study architecture; in October following began studying architecture privately, in Paris, and in May passed a successful examination for entrance to the "École Nationale des Beaux Arts," where he now is, and will probably remain another year. (Has made no report to the Secretary.)

WILLIAM BURRY. Born in Montreal, Canada, Jan. 10, 1851. Began the study of law, soon after graduation, in the office of Edward S. Isham and Robert T. Lincoln, in Chicago, Ill.; was admitted to practise law in the courts of that State in September, 1875; has since been engaged in his profession in the above office, at 31 Portland Block, Chicago.

* JAMES JACKSON CABOT, the third son of Samuel and Hannah (Jackson) Cabot, was born in Boston, Feb. 4, 1854.

He first attended the Brimmer School, in Boston, and subsequently completed the six years' course at the Boston Latin School, for preparation for college; he was admitted at the July examination, in 1870, and graduated with us, receiving a degree. After graduation he studied medicine at the Harvard Medical School until just previous to his death, which took place at his father's home in Canton, Mass., June 13, 1875.

He was a thorough and excellent student, and devoted to the profession he had chosen. While in the Medical School his vigorous and intelligent work raised him to the foremost rank in his class, and marked him out to his instructors as a man who would work untiringly not for rank, but for love of the subject, and for the furtherance of medical science.

Those who knew him well will need nothing to remind them of his loving, pure, and manly character.

Although he was not one of those who gain popularity in a college class through social prominence, he was beloved by those who knew him well enough to see the sweetness of his disposition, his absolute truthfulness and sincerity, his very deep love for his family and friends, and his unflinching adherence to his own high standard of right.

By his death we have lost one whose principles, in thought and action, commanded the deepest respect of all. We can only be grateful for his memory.

H. L. M.

At a meeting of the Class, held in Boston, June 16, 1875, appropriate resolutions were passed to his memory, and a copy thereof sent to his parents, and to each member of the Class.

THOMAS CARY. Born in Buffalo, N.Y., April 27, 1851. Writes May 3, 1877, as follows: "I have been admitted to the New York bar since June, 1876; I have obtained the degree of LL.B. at Hamilton College, of this State; I passed sufficient examinations at the Harvard Law School last June to entitle me to enter the second-year course; and I have been passing the past winter in the law office of Emott, Burnett, & Hammond, in New York City, learning the practice, and keeping up the theory of law by attending the Columbia College Law School, where I expect to obtain the degree of LL.B. next week." It is his intention to return to Buffalo, and there enter upon the practice of his profession.

EDWARD WARREN CATE. Born in Newton, Mass., March 18, 1852. During the senior year in college attended the first year's lectures at the Harvard Law School; and in September, 1874, entered upon the second-year course in the same school, and was graduated therefrom June 30, 1875, receiving the degree of LL.B.; the next year was engaged in teaching in Newton, Mass., from February till June, in the Bigelow Grammar School, and an instructor in elocution during the whole year, at the Preston Cottage School; in June, 1876, was appointed, by Governor Rice, clerk of Newton Police Court; and, in the fall of 1876, was elected by the people of Newton to the same position which he now occupies.

GEORGE HERBERT CATE. Born in Wolfeboro', N.H., Dec. 20, 1851. Writes as follows: "I studied law at my home, in Wolfeboro', N.H., and also assisted my father in his business, during the year after graduation; then I entered the Yale Theological Seminary, at New Haven, and began to study for the ministry. I have been there two years. Last summer I was on the frontier in Nebraska, as a missionary, 190 miles southwest of Omaha, on the Republican River. This year I have served as port missionary to the seamen of New Haven. This summer I shall be in Markesan, Wisconsin."

HENRY CHISHOLM. Born in Montreal, Canada, Nov. 18, 1851. Was in business at Newark, N.J., for some months after graduation, holding a position in a branch house of a Cleveland Company for manufacturing machines for making paper boxes; is now residing in Cleveland, Ohio, and is engaged in the manufacture of steel by the "Sieman Martin" process, with the Cleveland Rolling Mill Co., and expects to make this his permanent business.

ARTHUR BLAKE CLAPP. Born in Boston, Mass., June 11, 1851. In July, 1874, began the study of law in the office of Edward P. Brown, Esq., 82 Devonshire Street, Boston, and has since remained in that office; July 13, 1875, was commissioned as a justice of the peace for Suffolk County; and April 14, 1876, received a commission as notary public for Suffolk County, Mass.

HENRY ALDEN CLARK. Born in Harbor Creek, Pa., January 7, 1850. In the fall of 1875 entered the Harvard Law School, and will be graduated this summer, receiving the degree of LL.B.; at present intends to settle in Fall River, Mass., and there pursue his profession.

LOUIS CRAWFORD CLARK. Born in Northampton, Mass., July 28, 1853. From October, 1874, to January, 1876, was Secretary of the Goodenough Horse-shoe Company, in New York City; studied law at the Columbia College Law School from January, 1876, until the close of the term; since October, 1876, has been in the office of Clark, Dodge, & Co., bankers, 51 Wall St., New York City.

CHARLES CECIL CLARKE. Born in Cambridge, Mass., April 15, 1854. Immediately after graduation sailed for China, and there entered into the employ of the Commissioner of the Customs Service of the Chinese Government, at Shanghai; in March, 1875, was transferred to Hankow. (The last report from him, which the Secretary has received, was dated June, 1876, when he was still at Hankow.)

SAMUEL BELCHER CLARKE. Born in Brooklyn, N.Y., Nov. 6, 1852. In the fall of 1874 returned to Cambridge, and entered the Harvard Law School; was proctor at the College during the year 1875-76; was graduated from the Law School, June 28, 1876, receiving the degree of LL.B.; in August following, at Greenfield, Mass., upon examination, was admitted to practise law in all the courts of Massachusetts; in September went to New York City, and entered the law office of Joseph H. Choate, Esq.; remained there until Feb. 7, 1877, when he went into the office of Hon. Stewart L. Woodford, United States Attorney for the Southern District of New York, where he has been since; will be admitted to the New York bar at the present (May, 1877) term of the court, "unless the Committee on Character make trouble."

ARTHUR CLIFFORD. Born in New Bedford, Mass., April 7, 1852. Has been studying medicine since graduation, the first year and most of the past year at the Harvard Medical School; has also pursued his studies at Winchendon, Mass., with Dr. Ira Russell, and has contributed several articles to the local paper of that town.

GEORGE OLIVER GEORGE COALE. Born in Boston, Mass., Sept. 10, 1853. Entered the Harvard Law School in the fall of 1874, and was graduated therefrom June 28, 1876, receiving the degree of LL.B.; while at the Law School was also an assistant to Professor Trowbridge in the Physical Laboratory; in the fall of 1876 went into the law office of J. E. Maynadier, Esq., 60 Devonshire Street, Boston, where he now is; will apply for admission to the Suffolk bar next fall.

FREDERIC COLLINS. Born in Columbus, Ohio, June 7, 1851. Immediately after graduation began the study of law in his father's office, at Cleveland, Ohio; June 6, 1876, was admitted a member of the Ohio bar, before the Supreme Court, at Columbus; Feb. 2, 1875, was appointed a notary-public; is now practising law at his office, No. 2 Case Building, Cleveland, Ohio.

THOMAS CORLIES. Born in Chappaqua, N.Y., Sept. 27, 1854. Writes, April 17, as follows: "I have, since graduation, been studying (aliter reading) law, saving vacations, cuts, and the time I spent abroad; am now enjoying an humble and unsalaried position in the law offices of Butler, Stillman, & Hubbard, 111 Broadway, New York City, and have been attending lectures at the Columbia College Law School; my present design is to enter the New York bar in May, 1878."

HENRY HORACE CROCKER. Born in Boston, Mass., Nov. 17, 1853. April 20, 1875, entered the office of Hard & Rand, importers and dealers in coffee, at 107 Wall Street, New York City, with whom he has since continued.

FREDERIC CUNNINGHAM. Born in Cohasset, Mass., Aug. 23, 1854. Immediately after graduation went to Europe, and remained there eleven months, five of which were passed in Berlin, in studying German; upon his return home, in the fall of 1875, entered the Harvard Law School, from which he expects to graduate this summer, with the degree of LL.B.; in the fall will enter a law office in Boston, and there pursue his profession.

FREDERICK SPAULDING CUTTER. Born in Boston, Mass., Feb. 6, 1853. Devoted the first year after graduation to private tutoring in Cambridge; since then has been teaching in the Houghton High School, in Bolton, Mass.

PAUL DANA. Born in New York City, Aug. 20, 1852. Immediately after graduation began the study of law at the Law School of Columbia College, in New York City; was obliged to soon relinquish his work, owing to a severe trouble with his eyes, and went to Europe to gain rest; upon his return, in the fall of 1876, resumed the study of law at the Columbia Law School, and hopes to be able to continue his professional studies, and to practise law in New York City.

RICHARD HENRY DANA. Born in Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 3, 1851. During the year 1874-75, was at the Harvard Law School; from July, 1875, to October, 1876, travelled in Europe; in October, 1876, resumed his studies at the Harvard Law School, and will be graduated this summer, receiving the degree of LL.B.; intends to enter the law office of Brooks, Ball, & Storey, in the fall, and afterwards to practise law in Boston.

ARTHUR LITHGOW DEVENS. Born in Ware, Mass., June 3, 1853. August 31, 1874, entered the Washington Mills, Lawrence, Mass., to acquire a practical knowledge of the manufacture of cloths, particularly dress goods, shawls, &c., "not by looking on, but by the sweat of his brow"; Feb. 20, 1875, was given a position in the house of E. R. Mudge, Sawyer, & Co., 15 Chauncy Street, Boston, selling agents of the Washington Mills, which position he now holds; Dec. 27, 1876, was married, at St. Paul's Church, in Rochester, N.Y., by the Rev. Dr. Foote, to Agnes Russell Elwood, daughter of the late Isaac R. and Anna Elizabeth (Gold) Elwood, of Rochester; is now residing at 273 Clarendon Street, Boston.

JAMES EDWARD DITSON. Born in Boston, Mass., Dec. 11, 1852; In Sept., 1874, entered into the employ of the firm of Oliver Ditson & Co., music publishers, of Boston, commencing at the very beginning of the business; passed the following summer in Europe, and in October, 1875, returned to his father's store as clerk; in December, 1875, the firm of Oliver Ditson & Co. purchased the complete music stock of Lee & Walker, of Philadelphia, and a branch house was established in that city, under the firm name of J. E. Ditson & Co., he having been made the junior partner of the Boston house of Oliver Ditson & Co., and been sent to manage the branch house in Philadelphia, at 922 Chestnut Street.

NATHAN HASKELL DOLE. Born in Chelsea, Mass., Aug. 31, 1852. Received the degree of A.B., June 28, 1876; has been teaching since graduation; the first year was passed at De Veaux College, at Suspension Bridge, New York; the next year as instructor in Greek and English literature, at the High School in Worcester, Mass.; returned to Cambridge in the fall of 1876, and remained there until Christmas, when he succeeded Nichols as preceptor of the Derby Academy, in Hingham, Mass; intends to remain in Hingham until June, 1878, and then to visit Europe.

GEORGE BUCKNAM DORR. Born in Jamaica Plain, Mass., Dec. 29, 1853. Has been travelling and studying in Europe most of the time since graduation. (Has made no report to the Secretary.)

JAMES DWIGHT. Born in Paris, France, July 14, 1852. Has been studying medicine at the Harvard Medical School since graduation; on account of severe illness, his studies the past year have been interfered with, and he will remain another year at the Medical School, at the end of that time taking the degree of M.D.

LOUIS DYER. Born in Chicago, Ill., Sept. 30, 1851. Soon after graduation entered Balliol College, Oxford, England; continued his studies there until February last, when he was called home on account of his father's illness; is now in Chicago, studying, teaching, and lecturing, and is uncertain whether or not he will return to Oxford next year to take his degree.

* WILLIAM SAMUEL ELIOT, son of Samuel and Emily Marshall (Otis) Eliot, was born in Boston, March 16, 1854.

He visited Europe twice with his family before he entered college, and was fitted for college almost entirely with his father; he returned from Europe in September, 1870, just in time for the fall examinations, which he passed without a condition; his college career was essentially a quiet one, but he was always ready for any innocent fun which presented itself; and, into whatever he entered, he entered with a will; he studied faithfully during the Freshman year, paying attention not only to the required studies, but to any others in which he took an interest, and they were many; his general knowledge was remarkable, and at the end of that year his name stood high upon the rank list. During the Sophomore year he was troubled, from time to time, with the dreadful disease which put an end to his college life at the close of the year; in the intervals of these periodical attacks he studied all the harder to make up for lost time; young, hopeful, and ambitious, his spirit was too ardent for the body which contained it, and in June, 1872, he was forced to leave the scene of which he was so fond, never to return to it again as a student.

It was then that the true beauty of his character showed itself; giving up every thing in which his two years of college life had given him a more than ordinary interest, without a murmur, he lay upon his bed day after day, month after month, hoping, suffering, enduring all things in the spirit of a true Christian; during his long illness he kept up his interest in all his old associations and friends, his greatest pleasure being in seeing the latter; and no one ever entered his room without being greeted with a cheerful smile and a pleasant welcome; he even studied, so far as he was able, and at our graduation received his degree quite unexpectedly, and greatly to his delight, being specially examined by some of the faculty. His class feeling was of the strongest kind, and no one more devoted to the interests of the class of '74 graduated that year; this was shown, too, by his generous subscriptions to the class and college funds. On Class Day he was able, though at great risk, to drive out to Cambridge, and witnessed, from a window in Harvard Hall, the exercises around the tree.

This was the last time that he was ever in Cambridge. From that time the terrible hip disease seemed to gather strength ; and, although he rallied several times during the summer and autumn, it was with less force at each successive time.

He died on the afternoon of Sunday, Nov. 15, 1874, leaving behind him an example of earnestness and perseverance in the pursuit of knowledge, of patience under suffering, and of true Christian piety, which we should all do well to imitate.

His funeral was from Emanuel Church, in Boston, his classmates acting as pall-bearers. His body lies in Mt. Auburn. F. C.

At a meeting of the class, held in Boston, Nov. 17, 1874, appropriate resolutions to his memory were passed, and copies of the same were sent to his parents and to each member of the class.

AMORY GLAZIER HODGES. Born in Roxbury, Mass., Dec. 19, 1852. Writes: "On 15th of August I sailed for Europe, where I travelled for five months, in company with Goodwin, and arrived in Boston Jan. 20, 1875; on the following day entered upon my mercantile life as a maid-of-all-work in the Washington National Bank, 47 State Street, Boston, which position I now hold, — thanks to my bondsmen; I have taken an active interest, but no prominent part, in politics; nor have I yet been rewarded with an office, which is generally the emolument for such work."

He has also continued his interest in base-ball, having been a member of the Suffolk Base-ball Club, — a short-lived amateur organization, of Boston, — and officiated as umpire in several professional matches in the season of 1876, receiving the favorable comments of the press for the manner in which he discharged his duties; is an active member of the First Corps of Cadets, M.V.M., holding a warrant in that organization.

NATHANIEL DANA CARLILE HODGES. Born in Salem, Mass., April 19, 1852. Writes: "After graduating I spent a year and six months in Europe, partly at Heidelberg, studying chemistry; since my return I have been in Cambridge, coaching there in mathematics and physics." His name appears in the last college catalogue as a "Resident Graduate, not a Candidate for a degree."

THOMAS MILLER HONEYWELL. Born in Meadville, Pa., Feb. 2, 1852. Has resided in Meadville, Pa., since graduation, and writes: "I was one of that unhappy number of our class who were undecided as to the choice of a profession before leaving college; and I must confess, much against my will, however, that I have not enjoyed the sweet slumber of a decided opinion upon that, or any other subject, since. Like the fabled coffin of Mohammed, I am in a state of betweenity. Nevertheless, I take much consolation in the hope that I may yet be able to arrive at a conclusion before many years have passed away."

ADONIRAM JUDSON HOPKINS. Born in Jefferson, Me., May 24, 1847. Writes as follows: "I went in September, after graduation, to Newton Centre, Mass., where for two years I studied at the Baptist Theological Institution. I am now settled as pastor of the Baptist Church in Dunbarton, N.H., having been ordained as a clergyman at Dunbarton, Sept. 27, 1876. I was married in Perkinsville, Vt., Feb. 7, 1877, by Rev. William H. Rugg, to Mary Cheney Martin, daughter of Horace M. and Lorinda B. Martin; I am at present Superintendent of Schools for the town of Dunbarton; am Vice-President of the New Hampshire Baptist Sunday School Convention, and Secretary of the New Hampshire Baptist Pastoral Association; by appointment, I prepared and read an essay entitled 'The Conversion of Children one Great Object of Sunday-school Work,' at Keene, N.H., Oct. 17, 1876; am occasional correspondent for 'The Watchman,' Boston, and 'The Examiner and Chronicle,' and 'Christian Union,' New York."

WILLIAM DAVID HUNT. Born in Weymouth, Mass., Feb. 9, 1852. In January, 1875, entered into the employ of the American Rubber Company, at No. 31 Otis Street, Boston, and at present is a salesman in that company; June 30, 1875, received the degree of A.B. as of the Class of 1874.

JESSE C. IVY. Born in Warsaw, Ala., Oct. 29, 1847. In the fall of 1874 began the study of law at the Harvard Law School, and was graduated therefrom June 28, 1876, receiving the degree of LL.B.; the past year has been proctor at the College, and has been studying for the degree of A.M., which he will receive this summer; took an active part in the last presidential campaign, and made several speeches in Massachusetts in behalf of the Democratic candidates. (Has made no report to the Secretary.)

WALTER INGERSOLL JONES. Born in Portsmouth, N.H., Oct. 10, 1852. Was not engaged in active business until Aug. 1, 1875, when he went into the office of the Continental Sugar Refinery, 21 Broad Street, Boston, where he has since remained.

ARTHUR MONROE KEITH. Born in Roxbury, Mass., July 9, 1852. Entered the Law School of Boston University in the fall of 1874, and completed the two years' course at that school, and during this time was also in the law office of his father, James M. Keith, Esq., 42 Court Street, Boston; graduated from the Law School in May, 1876, with the degree of LL.B.; June 1, 1876, after examination, was admitted, at the Superior Court in Boston, to practise law in all the courts of the Commonwealth; has since been practising law at Boston Highlands; June 30, 1876, was commissioned as a justice of the peace for Suffolk County, Mass.

CHARLES FRANKLIN KNOWLES. Born in Boston, Mass., Aug. 8, 1852. Nov. 1, 1874, entered the office of E. D. Bangs & Co., bankers and brokers, No. 88 State Street, Boston, to learn the business of banking; Nov. 1, 1875, was advanced to the position of book-keeper in that office, where he is at present to be found; is a member of the First Corps of Cadets, M.V.M.

JAMES LAWRENCE. Born in Boston, Mass., March 23, 1853. Immediately after graduation went to Europe, and remained abroad several months; Jan. 16, 1875, was married at Emanuel Church in Boston, by the Rev. Dr. Vinton, to Caroline Estelle Mudge, daughter of Enoch Reddington and Caroline (Patton) Mudge, of Boston; went abroad again after his marriage, and returned home early in the fall of 1875; during the year 1875-76 attended lectures at the Harvard Law School, and resided most of the time in Groton, Mass., where he carried on an extensive stock farm; in the fall of 1876 went again to Europe, and will return next autumn. (Has made no report to the Secretary.)

FREDERICK LAWTON. Born in Lowell, Mass., May 10, 1852. Has been teaching since graduation, the first year as principal of the Chicopee Falls (Mass.) High School, and the last two years as assistant in the High School at Brookline, Mass.

WILLIAM SHERMAN LELAND. Born in Roxbury, Mass., Sept. 6, 1851. Has been studying law since graduation; from October, 1874, to December, 1875, attended lectures at the Law School of Boston University, and since then has been in the law office of Horace E. Ware, Esq., and Andreas Blume, Esq., counsellors-at-law, at 33 School Street, Boston.

JOEL MARVIN LEONARD. Born in Potsdam, N.Y., July 21, 1852. The past three years has been studying for the ministry at the School of Theology connected with Boston University, and will be graduated therefrom this month, receiving the degree of B.D.; was married, May 23, 1877, at East Cambridge, by the Rev. George W. Mansfield, to Ada J. West, of Cambridge; will probably settle in the West. (Has made no report to the Secretary.)

FREDERIC HOWARD LOMBARD. Born in Boston, Mass., April 12, 1852. In the fall of 1874 began the study of medicine at the Harvard Medical School; on account of ill-health was unable to continue his studies at that school the next year, and went to Fayal for a few months to obtain rest; the past year has resumed the study of medicine, most of the time with Dr. Ira Russell, at Winchendon, Mass., and will pass the examinations at the Harvard Medical School next fall.

JAMES DUANE LOWELL. Born in Newark, N.J., May 1, 1853. Left the class at the end of the Freshman year; has been studying civil engineering the past four years at the Lawrence Scientific School, in Cambridge; has, during the past year, passed the examinations requisite to obtain the degree of A.B., which he will receive this summer, as of the class of 1874, and therefore is placed with the graduating members of the class.

HERBERT WARREN LULL. Born in Boston, Mass., Nov. 20, 1852. Has been engaged since graduation in teaching: the first year as principal of the Intermediate School in Manchester, N.H.; the last two years as sub-master in the High School of the same place.

FRANK LYMAN. Born in Brooklyn, N.Y., Dec. 20, 1852. Since graduation has been studying to become a mining engineer, the first year taking a special course at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, in Boston, and the past two years at the School of Mines connected with Columbia College, in New York City; it is his present expectation to receive the degree of M.E. from the latter school in June, 1878.

WILLIAM STAPLES MARSTON. Born in Lexington, Mass., May 23, 1853. Has resided in Cambridge since graduation, and was a member of the Lawrence Scientific School for the first two years; has been engaged the past year in a few special studies at that school, and is writing a thesis for the degree of C.E., which he will receive this summer.

WILLIAM CASTEIN MASON. Born in Bangor, Me., Sept. 1, 1852. Has been studying medicine since graduation,—the first year in Bangor, Me., and the last two years at the Harvard Medical School; in April, 1877, was appointed Surgical House Pupil at the Massachusetts General Hospital, for one year, beginning Aug. 1, 1877; will receive his degree of M.D. after this term of service.

EDWIN GARRALD MERRIAM. Born in Lawrence, Mass., June 20, 1851. During the senior year in college attended lectures at the Harvard Law School, and in September, 1874, entered upon the second-year's course at that school, graduating June 30, 1875, with the degree of LL.B.; in the autumn of 1875 went to St. Louis to pursue his profession; and, being an entire stranger there, had, from his own story, an "unsatisfactory experience," until the close of the summer of 1876, when he assumed control of the administrative portion of the business of the Master in Chancery of the United States Circuit Court for the Eastern District of Missouri, Seymour D. Thompson, Esq.; Jan. 1, 1877, accepted the position of business manager of the "Central Law Journal," edited by Mr. Thompson, and published in St. Louis. He writes: "I am in business with the vulgar intent of getting cash, and I get it; when I can afford the luxury of legal pursuits, I shall assuredly enter upon them, and I shape every thing to that end."

HENRY FERDINAND MERRILL. Born in White River Village, Vt., June 15, 1853. Soon after graduation went to China, and entered into the service of the Commissioner of Customs of the Chinese Government, arriving at Shanghai in September, 1874; was first stationed at Kinkiang, in the interior of the country, and in June, 1876, was transferred to Takow, in the Island of Formosa. (Has made no report to the Secretary.)

HENRY CHILDS MERWIN. Born in Pittsfield, Mass., Aug. 5, 1853. The first year studied law at the Harvard Law School; in the fall of 1875 resumed his studies, in the law office of his father, Elias Merwin, Esq., 40 State Street, Boston, where he has since remained ; in April, 1877, at Boston, upon examination, was admitted to practise law in all the courts of Massachusetts.

ETHELBERT SMITH MILLS. Born in Brooklyn, N.Y., Jan. 29, 1853. Devoted the first two years to preparing a young man for college, the first year residing in Brooklyn, N.Y., and the second year in Danville, in Western New York ; the past year, on account of poor health, has done but little work, but has been recruiting his strength on a farm at Nissiquaque, Suffolk Co., N.Y.

JAMES JACKSON MINOT. Born in West Roxbury, Mass., Oct. 11, 1852. Entered the Harvard Medical School in the fall of 1874, where he has since remained ; in April, 1877, received an appointment as Medical House Pupil in the Massachusetts General Hospital, in Boston, for one year, beginning Aug. 1, 1877 ; will receive the degree of M.D. after this term of service.

Has been studying medicine at the Harvard Medical School the past three years ; in April, 1877, received an appointment as Surgical House Pupil at the Massachusetts General Hospital, in Boston, for one year, beginning Aug. 1, 1877 ; after this term of service will receive the degree of M.D.

HOSEA BALLOU MORSE. Born in Brookfield, N.S., July 11, 1855. Has been since graduation in the employ of the Commissioner of the Customs service of the Chinese government ; writes from Tientsin, China, April 20, 1877 : " I started from Boston on the 5th of July, 1874, as soon after Commencement as arrangements could be made, and finally left the shores of the United States of America on the 23d July. Here I would like to express my thanks to the San Francisco Harvard Club for their hospitality to the three members of '74 travelling together, and for the attentions which tended to render our stay in the city as pleasant as it was. After a week's stay in Japan, I reached Shanghai, on the 29th of August. Contrary to our expectations, we all remained there, instead of being transferred to outports. About a month later, we were agreeably surprised by the arrival of Merrill. He left us in a couple of weeks for an outport. In March, 1875, Clarke and Spinney were ordered to ports at which they are now; while I was left in Shanghai for two years longer, being transferred to Tientsin on the 1st of March, 1877. . . . Chinese studies are supposed to engross the greater part of our time. It may interest some of my friends to know that I discover no marked connection between that language and those of the Aryan stock: in fact, it is like nothing else under the sun. There are no politics in China to be engaged in, except by deep study of the classics. I was, however, present at the drawing up of the Chefoo Convention between England and China, the provisions of which our minister has so well supplemented." As to his life in China, in June, 1876, he wrote from Shanghai: "My health has been good. The China of the present day is not such a dreadful place to live in, if sufficient exercise is taken; and I have gone in for rowing at every one of our semi-annual regattas, for which I am now the lawful possessor of four cups of various metals (excluding gold). You never heard of me before as a rowing man, did you? Now, I am in eights and fours as bow. All that is required of bow, as he does not steer with us, is that he should be a light weight. (My rowing weight is one hundred and thirty pounds.)"

WILLIAM LAMBERT MORSE. Born in Marlboro', Mass., May 1, 1849. Has been in business with his father and uncle since April 10, 1877, as the junior member of the firm of Morse & Bigelow, traders at Marlboro', Mass.; was married, May 1, 1877, at Troy, N.H., to Ellen Cornelia Spaulding, daughter of E. J. and Lucy Jones Spaulding.

THEODORE WILLIAM MOSES. Born in Exeter, N.H., Jan. 26, 1851. The first year after graduation was at the Harvard Medical School; in the fall of 1875 resumed the study of medicine at the College of Physicians and Surgeons in New York City, and also studied in the office of Dr. Delafield in that city; will remain in New York another year, and expects to receive the degree of M.D. next winter.

HENRY SANFORD MUDGE. Born in Swampscott, Mass., July 1, 1852. Without answering any of the questions, requests the Secretary "to let the report go to press without stopping it on my account." He spent the first year after graduation travelling in Europe; the last two years, has been studying medicine at the Harvard Medical School, and will continue his studies at that school next year.

RICHARD COLE NEWTON. Born in Roxbury, Mass., July 23, 1851. Has been studying medicine since graduation at the College of Physicians and Surgeons, in New York City, and was graduated therefrom with the degree of M.D. March 1, 1877; is at present studying for a hospital appointment.

WILLIAM ICHABOD NICHOLS. Born in Saco, Me., June 13, 1852. In August, 1874, took the position of Preceptor of Derby Academy in Hingham, Mass., where he remained until December, 1876, being succeeded by Dole; left Hingham to accept a good opportunity as a private tutor, and has been such until the present time, residing in Cambridge; at present intends to study for the ministry, and, in the fall of 1877, to enter the Unitarian Divinity School in Cambridge.

JOHN PARSONS. Born in Steeple Ashton, Wiltshire, England, Feb. 8, 1850. In September, 1874, entered the Andover Theological Seminary, at Andover, Mass., and will be graduated June 29, 1877; was "approbated" to preach by the Worcester Central Association June 14, 1876; was elected in March, 1874, a member of the School Committee of Saugus, Mass., for a term of three years, which expired in March last; as such, prepared for the most part the annual school reports during the three years.

JOHN SIDNEY PATTON. Born in Dysartville, N.C., Nov. 24, 1847. In October, 1874, began the study of law at the Harvard Law School, and will be graduated this summer, receiving the degree of LL.B.; has been proctor at the College during the last three years, and has done considerable private tutoring, besides his work at the Law School; passed the summer of 1875 in Europe; has made no plans as to where he will settle and practise law.

CHARLES SHERBURNE PENHALLOW. Born in Portsmouth, N.H., May 10, 1852. In September, after graduation, went to Port Royal, S.C., in the interest of the Pacific Guano Company of Boston, to investigate the condition of their works there, and prepare a report thereon; remained there for two months, and, in February, 1875, entered the banking house of Lee, Higginson, & Co., in Boston, where for two years he "sat on a high-backed stool, summing up long columns of figures;" this occupation becoming monotonous, in October, 1876, went into business as a broker in cotton goods, under the patronage of S. D. Bush, at 11 Central Street, Boston, where he may now be found.

WILLIAM MAY PERKINS. Born in Cornish, Me., May 3, 1853. (Has made no report to the Secretary, and no information can be given concerning him.)

MARSHALL LIVINGSTON PERRIN. Born in Grantville, Mass., July 31, 1855. Writes: "Most of the year 1874 was spent upon the Pacific coast; left college in April, 1874, by permission of the Faculty, and, as Secretary of a United States Fish Commission Expedition, assisted in collecting eastern fishes and transporting them to California waters; and, after rambling through the State, we settled among the Wintoon Indians upon the McCloud River, near Shasta Butte; there we took several millions of salmon eggs, which were carried to several countries, and many were brought East to stock the rivers of the Atlantic States. Upon returning, I studied to pass the examinations necessary, and received my degree in June, 1875, as with the class of 1874. After spending the next year in studying physics and chemistry, received the degree of A.M., June 28, 1876. Some parts of the past year have been spent in the chemical laboratory; and I intend to work there next year, perhaps, as a candidate for a higher degree."

EDWARD GOULD PETERS. Born in Boston, Mass., May 9, 1853. Writes: "I sailed from New York for Liverpool, June 24, 1874, and reached Boston on my return home, Sept. 14, 1876. Since October, 1876, I have been a student of law in the office of the Hon. Henry W. Paine, at 53 Tremont Street, Boston; also since Oct. 1, 1876, I have been attending lectures at the Boston University Law School."

ARTHUR HOWARD PICKERING. Born in Boston, Mass., June 23, 1852. Sept. 1, 1874, commenced business in the office of Pickering, Winslow, & Co., General and Commission Merchants, at 6 India Square, Boston; in February, 1876, owing to ill health, was obliged to give up work, and sailed in the bark "Thomas A. Goddard," for Smyrna, and was absent five months; since his return has been engaged in his former business in Boston.

WILLIAM TAGGARD PIPER. Born in Boston, Mass., Aug. 9, 1853. Writes from Berlin, April 25, 1877: "In August, 1874, I sailed for England, and, in October of that year, entered Trinity College, Cambridge, England, where I studied till June, 1876; in the vacations, travelling through Great Britain, Ireland, going to Paris, and the like. With the exception of five weeks in Germany last summer, I stayed in England till returning to America last August, when I stayed in the 'States' six weeks; then sailed for England the middle of October, and afterwards came directly to Leipzig, where I remained four months, studying German, and hearing some lectures in the University there. Leaving there the middle of March, I have stayed for a time in Dresden, and shall now soon go back to England for a little while. During these next two years, or perhaps three, I expect to be chiefly travelling, and hope to be back in America in good time for our second Triennial at least."

SYLVESTER PRIMER. Born in Geneva, Wis., Dec. 14, 1842. Has been studying abroad since graduation; is now at Strasburg, Germany, studying Modern Languages, Old German, Gothic, and Anglo-Saxon; is uncertain how much longer he will remain in Europe.

FRANK ELDRIDGE RANDALL. Born in De Ruyter, N.Y., June 22, 1851. Since September, 1874, has been teaching, with the rank of usher, in the Public Latin School in Boston; will finish his duties at that school this summer, but has made no definite plans for next year; is a member of the First Corps of Cadets, M.V.M.

NICHOLAS REED, the son of Abram Nathaniel and Jenny (Anderson) Reed, was born in Farnville, Va., March 17, 1850.

He resided in the South until the close of the late war, when his father, impoverished by the loss of his property, went to Iowa, taking his son with him. Remaining two years in the West, he then came to Boston, with a view to educating himself. Previous to his coming East, he met Rev. Frederic Brooks (H. U. 1863), of Cleveland, Ohio, who showed a deep interest in his welfare, and advised the course which he subsequently followed. He began his education in 1867, when he attended the Dwight Grammar School in Boston. In the fall of the next year he removed to Cambridge, and entered the third class of the Cambridge High School, where he remained until the spring of 1870, preparing himself for college. In order to anticipate by a year his admission to college, he engaged in a course of special study out of school; and, in July, 1870, entered college, passing the examinations without a condition.

During his college course, he was equally ambitious and industrious; devoting a great portion of his time to private tutoring, and other means of earning his necessary expenses. He manifested a deep interest in religion throughout his college life, and had intended to become a minister of the Episcopal Church, of which he was a member. He was Secretary of the St. Paul's Religious Society in the Sophomore year. By those who knew him intimately in college he was regarded frank, earnest, and sincere, and as a kind and genial companion and friend.

Immediately after graduation, he secured a position in a new school in Cleveland, Ohio, for the preparation of boys for college, known now as the Brooks' Classical School. He had already made preparations for his departure, to enter upon his new duties, when he was seized with hemorrhage of the lungs, and died in Boston, Nov. 16, 1874, after three months' illness.

During his sickness, Rev. Frederic Brooks, his warm and devoted friend, who had secured for him the position in Cleveland, came to Boston to visit him, and, during his short stay, was accidentally drowned in the Charles River.

He was married Aug. 27, 1874, in Cambridge, by the late Rev. Edwin B. Chase, to Elizabeth Thatcher Hill, daughter of Charles William and Anna Cassandra Hill. His widow now resides in Boston.

J. S. P.

At a meeting of the class, held in Boston, Nov. 17, 1874, appropriate action was taken on his death, and copies of the resolutions were sent to his widow and to each member of the class.

HUNTINGTON RICHARDS. Born in Brooklyn, N.Y., July 18, 1851. Resided in Cambridge the first year after graduation, and attended lectures at the Harvard Medical School in Boston; went to New York City in the fall of 1875, and resumed the study of medicine at the College of Physicians and Surgeons in that city, graduating March 1, 1877, with the degree of M.D.; is now in New York, studying for the fall examinations for hospital appointments in that city.

WILLIAM REUBEN RICHARDS. Born in Dedham, Mass., July 3, 1853. Was occupied during year 1874-75 at the School of Oratory in Boston, and in reading history for the examination at Cambridge for the degree of A.B., which he received June 30, 1875, as of the class of 1874; in the following autumn began the study of law at the Harvard Law School; during the summer of 1876 studied in the law office of Shattuck, Holmes, & Monroe, in Boston; returned to the Law School in the fall of 1876, and will be graduated this summer, receiving the degree of LL.B. He writes: "By way of putting into practice what I had learned at the School of Oratory, I delivered a speech at Guilford, Conn., at a meeting of the descendants of Apostle Eliot, which was there convoked in September, 1875. I have reason to believe my first effort in the line of speech-making was well received."

GEORGE CARR RICHARDSON. Born in Roxbury, Mass., Nov. 18, 1852. Has been a clerk in the Eleventh Ward National Bank, 1701 Washington Street, Boston, since the first day of December, 1875.

WILLIAM RICHMOND. Born in Providence, R.I., Feb. 11, 1846. Soon after graduation began the study of theology at the General Theological Seminary of the Protestant Episcopal Church, in New York City; was graduated therefrom May 24, 1877, and was ordained deacon by the Right Rev. William R. Whittingham, D.D., Bishop of Maryland, in St Paul's Church, Baltimore, Md., May 27, 1877.

GEORGE RIDDLE. Born in Charlestown, Mass., Sept. 22, 1851. Has devoted himself since graduation entirely to his profession of acting; in October, 1874, made his debut as a reader in Boston, and received the favorable comments of the Boston Press; in January, 1875, made his debut as an actor at the Boston Theatre, as Romeo, in "Romeo and Juliet," before a large and enthusiastic audience, who were very demonstrative in their approval of his performance; the following month he appeared at the Union Square Theatre, in New York, with fine success, and was immediately offered a position in the company at that theatre, which he declined, to accept one at the Boston Museum, where he remained until May 1, 1876, when he accepted a flattering offer from Montreal, where he remained for several months, appearing also in Quebec, Ottawa, and Toronto; upon his return home was tendered a benefit by his many friends and admirers, which took place at the Boston Theatre, March 31, 1877, at which he appeared as Manuel, in the "Romance of a Poor Young Man;" is now visiting in Boston, giving very successful readings in that city and vicinity; is engaged for the season of 1877-78 as a member of the company at the Academy of Music, Montreal. He writes: "I have not found the stage all roses. There has been much to contend with. Indeed, it has been, and will be, for some time to come, a hard fight; but I have received enough encouragement to persist in my chosen career."

ARTHUR LANDON RIVES. Born in Boston, Mass., Nov. 6, 1853. The first year after graduation resided in Boston, and devoted the time to reading, principally history; the year 1875-76 attended the first-year lectures at the Harvard Law School, and successfully passed the examinations at the end of the year; on account of poor health was unable to resume the study of law last fall, but has spent most of the past year in travelling in this country, remaining in Virginia for four months; at present intends to complete the course at the Harvard Law School next year.

HENRY BELLOWES ROBERTS. Born in Charlestown, Mass., June 20, 1853. Writes: "I am now a student of theology at Andover Seminary, Andover, Mass., and expect to graduate in July, 1878. From March, 1875, to January, 1876, I was a teacher in the Brooks' Classical School, at Cleveland, Ohio. The first six months of 1876 were spent by me in preaching, at West Andover, Ohio, during which time there were thirty added to the church over which I had charge."

CALVIN PROCTOR SAMPSON. Born in Charlestown, Mass., March 19, 1853. In October, 1874, entered the Law School of Boston University, and was graduated therefrom in May, 1876, receiving the degree of LL.B.; in July, 1876, in the Superior Court sitting at Boston, upon examination was admitted to practise law in all the courts of the Commonwealth; has since been engaged in his profession in the office of Seth J. Thomas, Esq., 46 Court Street, Boston.

GEORGE PARTRIDGE SANGER. Born in Charlestown, Mass., Sept. 6, 1852. Aug. 31, 1874, began the study of law, in Boston, in the office of the United States Attorney for the District of Massachusetts, where he also occupied a clerical position; June 2, 1876, before the Superior Court sitting at Boston, after examination, was admitted to practise law in all the courts of the Commonwealth; July 28, 1876, was commissioned a justice of the peace for Suffolk County; Feb. 1, 1877, was appointed one of the assistants to the United States Attorney for Massachusetts, which position he now occupies; April 24, 1877, was commissioned a notary public for Suffolk County; office at U. S. Court House, 140 Tremont Street, Boston.

WILLIAM CARY SANGER. Born in Brooklyn, N.Y., May 21, 1853. Returned to Cambridge in the fall of 1874, and studied for the degree of A.M., which he received June 30, 1875; travelled the next year in Europe, with Wigglesworth, returning home in the latter part of the summer of 1876; has been studying law the past year at the Columbia College Law School, and will, next year, continue his studies at that School.

CHARLES WESLEY SAVAGE. Born in Holliston, Mass., June 14, 1852. In September, 1874, assumed the duties of professor of Latin and mathematics, in Johnson College, Quincy, Ill., for a brief period; Dec. 2, 1874, he began the study of law in the office of Hon. O. H. Browning, at Quincy, Ill., remaining there until April 26, 1875, when he went to Detroit, Mich., to continue his legal studies; returning East in June, after a short vacation, became for a year the Principal of Francestown Academy, Francestown, N.H.; in Oct. 1876, entered the Law School of Boston University, and since then has also been in the law office of Sumner Albee, Esq., 20 Court Street, Boston.

ROBERT WILLIAM SAWYER. Born in Wakefield, N.H., Jan. 18, 1850. Writes: "In the most friendly spirit, and without any wish to embarrass you, I am constrained to say, I am not disposed to give you the information in regard to myself for which you ask. I have done nothing of which I can boast, nothing of which I am ashamed. All that I am or have been, actively or passively, is peculiarly my own, and of which it ill befits me to speak."

He has been since graduation in the employ of his brother, Charles H. Sawyer, Esq., of Bangor, Me., a contractor for building railroads in Maine.

DAVID SEARS. Born in Longwood, Mass., Oct. 19, 1852. Sailed for Europe in October, 1874, spending most of the time in travelling, and returned home in May, 1876; since then has not been in active business; is at present very much interested in yachting, having been elected Rear Commodore of the Eastern Yacht Club for the present year, in which club his yacht, the "Wayward," figures prominently; has also taken an active interest in the preservation of the Old South Church, having acted as one of the secretaries at a public meeting on Washington's birthday last; is going to China in October, 1877, but for what purpose the Secretary is not informed.

EDMUND HAMILTON SEARS. Born in Wayland, Mass., April 20, 1852. Writes: "During the first year after graduation I was engaged in tutoring the mind of our colored brother at Hampton, Va., where a flourishing school has been established. The work was interesting, though not a serious tax upon the mental powers. My field of employment was a large and exceedingly miscellaneous one, the branches that I taught ranging from spelling to Evidences of Christianity. After a year of this service, I accepted a position as instructor in Classics at the University of California, which I have since filled. I was agreeably surprised by the excellent standard of the University, which in many respects compares favorably with that of the average New England college." . . . "It may not be out of place to state here that men of education are but poorly appreciated in California, and that Harvard men who wish positions as teachers had best turn their steps in some other direction. There are very few high-schools, and those are not of the first rank. The school system of the State is managed in a most miserable and short-sighted manner; so that men of real worth find it extremely difficult to secure positions."

THEODORE LOVETT SEWALL. Born in Germantown, Ohio, Sept. 20, 1853. In the fall of 1874 entered the Harvard

Law School, and was graduated therefrom June 28, 1876, receiving the degree of LL.B.; went to Indianapolis, Ind., August 1 following, with a private pupil, and, on Sept. 25 of the same year, opened a classical school in that city; induced W. F. Abbot to come and help him at Christmas, and they have been conducting the "Indianapolis Classical School" with good success in all respects; intends to resume his legal studies and to practise law at a subsequent date.

GEORGE CLARENCE SHEPARD. Born in Dorchester, Mass., March 24, 1854. Has been engaged in teaching since graduation; in 1875-76 was in Framingham, Mass., as tutor; and is at present an instructor in the Public Latin School in Boston, where he has been since September, 1876.

GEORGE SALTONSTALL SILSBEE. Born in Salem, Mass., Aug. 21, 1854. In December following graduation went to Memphis, Tenn., where he remained for four months, to acquire all the information he could about cotton; returned home in May, and, in September, 1875, went into the office of Frederick Dexter, Esq., 19 Exchange Place, Boston, to assist him in the cotton-buying business, where he can now be found. Residence in Salem, Mass.

EDWARD EMERSON SIMMONS. Born in Concord, Mass., Oct. 27, 1852. In the fall of 1874, went to Cincinnati, Ohio, and was for three months a clerk in an oil company in that city; in January, 1875, removed to San Francisco, where he was connected with a household art company for a year and a half; the past year has taught school at Berryvale, Cal.; will return East this summer. HENRY HOUGHTON WILLIAMS, the only son of William Austin and Esther (Houghton) Williams, was born in Worcester, Mass., June 8, 1854.

He attended the various public schools in Worcester, and was fitted for college at the high-school. He entered the class at the July examinations in 1870, at that time being but sixteen years of age.

Immediately after graduation he began the study of law in his father's office in Worcester, and remained thus engaged until his death, June 20, 1876. On the afternoon of that day, he went down to the house of the Quinsigamond Boat Club, and, taking his wherry, started out on the lake alone; he had been gone but a few moments from the view of those on shore, being concealed by an island, when a cry of distress was heard; other members of the club were almost instantly on the spot, but nothing was to be seen of him; his boat was not overturned, and contained but little water, and, as he had always been accounted an excellent swimmer, his sudden disappearance has ever seemed somewhat mysterious. His body was recovered the next afternoon.

By this sad accident was lost a classmate who gave great promise of success in his chosen profession. He had, but three days before his death, passed, with great credit to himself, the examination for admission to the bar, and, had he lived, would have been formally admitted on the 22d of June. His examiners spoke most highly of him, and prophesied for him a brilliant future. To the fulfilment of this prediction, those who knew his capability for work and his sincere love for his profession would have looked forward with perfect confidence.

Though naturally of a retiring disposition, his circle of friends was large. His scrupulous regard for the rights of others, and his uniformly pleasant address, made him a most agreeable companion, and his earnest endeavors never by word or look to hurt the feelings or injure the reputation of any one endeared him to those with whom he was most intimately associated.

He was greatly missed in his native city; for he had always taken much interest in athletic sports, was a member of the Quinsigamond Boat Club and of the Worcester Light Infantry, and, young as he was, had become somewhat prominent in local politics. S. B. W.

At a meeting of the class held in Boston, June 22, 1876, a letter of condolence was prepared, and afterwards sent to his parents, and a notice of the death and meeting was sent to each member of the class.

CHARLES FRANCIS WITHINGTON. Born in Brookline, Mass., Aug. 21, 1852. The first year after graduation was a teacher in the High School at Brookline, Mass.; then received an appointment as an instructor in the Roxbury Latin School, which position has been occupied for the past two years; intends to enter the Harvard Medical School next fall.

DAVID LITTLE WITHINGTON. Born in Newbury, Mass., Feb. 2, 1854. Writes: "I have, since graduation, been studying law in the office of F. V. Balch, Esq., in Boston, and for a short time, in the summers of 1874 and 1875, with Amos Noyes, Esq., at Newburyport; from October, 1875, to June, 1876, I attended the lectures at the Law School of Boston University, and at the end of the term went through certain forms or performances, and paid five dollars for a document which I presumed conferred on me the degree of LL.B., though of this I have no ocular evidence; I am also attending some of the lectures there the present year; at the June term, 1876, of the Superior Court, sitting in Salem, I was admitted, after examination by Judge Pitman, to practise law in all the courts of the Commonwealth; since then I have been practising in Boston, in the office of F. V. Balch, 39 Court Street, Boston, and also have an office in Newburyport, where I reside." Was commissioned Aug. 14, 1876, as captain of the Cushing Guard, formerly the "Newburyport Artillery," the oldest organization in the State, and attached to the Eighth Regiment, M.V.M.; was a member of the Republican City Committee of Newburyport during the late presidential campaign; delivered an oration July 4, 1876, at the centennial celebration of the town of Newbury; and, with his brother, prepared a historical sketch of the Newburyport Artillery, for the centennial celebration of its organization, Oct. 21, 1875, the latter being a labor of some months.

SAMUEL BAYARD WOODWARD. Born in Worcester, Mass., Aug. 24, 1853. Has been studying medicine at the Harvard Medical School since graduation, and will be graduated therefrom this summer, receiving the degree of M.D.

JOHN PALMER WYMAN. Born in West Cambridge (now Arlington), Mass., March 7, 1853. The two years succeeding graduation studied law at the Harvard Law School, from which he was graduated June 30, 1876, receiving the degree of LL.B. ; did not enter into the practice of law, or apply for admission to the bar, but, in September, 1876, became connected with the house of John P. Squire & Co., pork-packers, 45 North Street, corner of Blackstone Street, Boston, where he now remains.

SAMUEL EDWIN WYMAN. Born in West Cambridge, (now Arlington), Mass., March 7, 1853. In September, 1874, began the study of medicine at the Harvard Medical School, where he remained during the year ; was obliged, on account of a long-protracted and severe attack of typhoid fever, to give up work during the year 1875-76 ; in the fall of 1876 entered the second class at the Medical School, and has since continued his studies there.

CLASSMATES NOT GRADUATED WITH US.

*JULIUS KENRICK ADAMS, son of the late Jonathan and Sarah Marsh (Kenrick) Adams, was born in Lebanon, N.H., July 26, 1852.

His parents afterwards removed to Cambridge, where he attended the high-school, and there fitted for college, entering at the July examination in 1870. Living near each other in Cambridge, we became very intimate while in the high-school, where he showed an unusual fondness for study and reading, and always ranked high in his class. With the same earnestness and application, he pursued his studies during the Freshman year, when his career came to a sudden and unexpected end.

He was drowned on the 11th of August, 1871, in Charles River, while bathing from the float at the college boat-house, with the writer of this notice. Thus, almost at the commencement of our college course, — which he hoped to enjoy so much, — was he taken from us, being the only death in the class during the four years.

Of a gentle and retiring disposition, he was naturally quiet and unostentatious in his ways, preferring to stand on his own diligently earned merits than to push himself forward. He also combined a delicacy of feeling for others with a sincere regard for what was right. His classmates, and especially his schoolmates, who knew him longer, will always cherish the same sincere regard for his memory.

CLARENCE ALMY. Born in Barrington, R.I., Aug. 15, 1852. Writes as follows: "After leaving college and Cambridge in June, 1873, I sought for a suitable position in which to display the advantages of my college training. I looked in vain, until April, 1874, and then I took what I could get, and asked no questions. I have retained my position in New York with Whittemore, Peet, Post, & Co., dry-goods commission merchants, since the aforesaid date. How much longer I shall remain, I am at present unable to state."

GEORGE ASHBURNER. Born in Hartford, Conn., Feb. 13, 1853. Left college, early in the Freshman year, to accept a position in a commercial house at Calcutta, India; on account of ill-health produced by the climate in India, was obliged to leave, and went to England to recruit ; but, as it was not thought advisable to return to India, began studying art in London, at the Slade School, where he is now occupied. (Has made no report to the Secretary.)

CHARLES FANNING BARSTOW. Born in Boston, Mass., May 16, 1852. Left the class at the end of Freshman year ; in the fall of 1871 became a member of the Class of 1875, with whom he was graduated, receiving the degree of A.B. ; in the fall of 1875 went to Pueblo, Col., the western terminus of the Atchison, Topeka, & Santa Fé Railroad, in pursuit of business ; but, after remaining there a year, during which time he "dabbled in land speculations," returned to Boston, and has not since been engaged in active business.

AUGUST BELMONT. Born in New York City, Feb. 18, 1853. Left the class at the end of Junior year ; in the fall of 1873 became a member of the Class of 1875, with which he completed the full college course ; in the fall of 1875 entered his father's banking house (August Belmont & Co.), in New York City, to learn the business, and now occupies a salaried position in that house ; is a member of the Seventh Regiment, National Guard of New York ; is a subscriber to the class fund.

CHARLES WARLAND BIGELOW. Born in Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 11, 1853. Soon after leaving college in May, 1871, went into the publishing house of James R. Osgood & Co., in Boston ; for the past three years has occupied a position in the office of the University Press in Cambridge, conducted by Welch, Bigelow, & Co. (Has made no report to the Secretary.)

WILLIAM GIBSON COLESWORTHY. Born in Boston, Mass., March 17, 1851. Was obliged to leave college early in the Sophomore year, on account of ill health ; writes to the Secretary under date of May 21, 1877, as follows : "Since leaving the Class of 1874 I have graduated from the theological department of Boston University, and, on the 6th of next month, I shall graduate from the academical department of the same university, when I shall take my two degrees of A.B. and B.D. ; June 25, 1876, I was married, in Chelsea, Mass., by the Rev. F. K. Stratton, to Eugenia Irene McIntyre, daughter of Robert and Hannah P. McIntyre."

EDWARD COLLINS. Born in Fair Haven, Conn., Nov. 11, 1852. Severed his connection with the college in July, 1871; since then has studied law in Boston, has been admitted to the Suffolk bar, and is now practising law in the office of Charles G. Thomas, Esq., 20 Court Street, Boston. (Has made no report to the Secretary.)

ARTHUR NORTON CRAM. Born in Boston, Mass., Aug. 1, 1852. Left college at the end of the Freshman year; has been in business in Boston for some time after graduation, but is not now in active business; has resided in Walpole, Mass. (Has made no report to the Secretary.)

(The Secretary has not been able to obtain any further information concerning him, as his present whereabouts are unknown.)

EDGAR MORA DAVISON. Born in New York City, July 1, 1853. Left the class in June, 1873; was connected with a flour mill in New York City for some time after he left college, but his present occupation is unknown; is a member of 7th Regiment National Guard, of New York. (Has made no report to the Secretary.)

FRANK CHRISTOPHER FALLON. Born in Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 23, 1851. Entered the class at the beginning of the Sophomore year, and remained until March, 1872; since then studied law in Philadelphia, and is now pursuing his profession in that city. (Has made no report to the Secretary.)

HENRY PEMBROKE FETRIDGE. Closed his connection with the college in February, 1871. (The Secretary has been unable to obtain any information concerning him since that time.)

FREDERIC ALBERT HACKETT. Born in Boston, Mass., Dec. 31, 1851. Left college before the end of the Freshman year; has been, for three or four years past, with Hawley, Foster, & Martin, wholesale dealers in gentlemen's furnishing goods, at 25 Otis Street, Boston. (Has made no report to the Secretary.)

ARTHUR DUDLEY HALL. Born in Concord, Mass., Jan. 7, 1852. Soon after leaving college, in March, 1872, went to Europe, and remained abroad nearly a year; upon his return was a clerk at the State House, in Boston; in spring of 1875 decided to adopt the stage as a profession, and went to England, studying for some months in London and Scarborough, and subsequently travelling with a dramatic company in the provinces; returned home in April, 1876, and in the fall of that year made his début as an actor, in this country, at the Boston Museum, and was engaged in the company at that theatre for some time; is engaged for the season of 1877-78, in the company at the Academy of Music, in Montreal, Canada.

GOOLD HOYT. Born in Newport, R.I., June 21, 1853. Left college in the middle of Sophomore year; was at Trinity College, Cambridge, England, for three years, receiving the degree of B.A.; upon his return entered the Columbia College Law School, in New York City, in the fall of 1876, and was graduated therefrom in May last, receiving the degree of LL.B.; is residing in New York City. (Has made no report to the Secretary.)

JAMES KEENAN. Born in Dover, N.H., March, 1848. Left college at the end of the first term of the Sophomore year; since then has been migrating between Dover, N.H., and other places in this country, with what purpose is unknown. (The Secretary has been unable to obtain any definite information concerning him.)

GEORGE ROCKWELL KENT. Born in Brooklyn, N.Y., July 2, 1853. Left college before the close of the Sophomore year; went to Europe subsequently; is now residing in Brooklyn, N.Y. (Has made no report to the Secretary.)

ROCKWELL KING. Born in Chicago, Ill., Feb. 7, 1853. Left college at the end of Sophomore year; immediately afterwards went into business in Chicago, and was for some time salesman for Crehar, Adams, & Co., dealers in railway supplies, in that city; has been for two years auditor and treasurer of the Adams and Westlake Manufacturing Company. (Has made no report to the Secretary.)

EMIL WASHINGTON KRACKOWIZER. Born in Williamsburg, N.Y., March 29, 1852. Left the class at the end of the Freshman year; soon after sailed for Europe, and in October, 1871, began the study of medicine at the University of Leipzig, passing his first examinations there in March, 1874; then, returning to New York, was, from April to September, 1874, Junior Assistant Surgeon in the New York German Hospital, attending, also, some of the clinics at the College of Physicians and Surgeons in New York City; in the fall of 1874 resumed his studies in Leipzig, and on March 27, 1875, received his degree of M.D. at that University; from April to September, 1875, was on duty at the "Leipzign Krankehaus;" has been ship surgeon to the North German Lloyd Steamship Company since December, 1876; from July 1, 1877, will, for six months, act as house surgeon in the New York German Hospital; intends to practise medicine in New York City after the first of January next. As to his prospects matrimonially, he writes: "I have, after much meandering about 'Rosamond's bower,' sot on my bump of amateness for good."

CHAUNCEY EDWARD LOW. Born in Brooklyn, N.Y., Feb. 23, 1851. Left the class at the end of Freshman year; soon after entered the Lawrence Scientific School; but, on account of trouble with his eyes, was obliged to give up his studies in May, 1873, when he went to Europe, returning home in September following; since Oct. 1, 1873, has been with A. A. Low & Brothers, East India merchants, at 31 Burling Slip, New York City, and is now char-zee (tea-taster) and salesman in that house; was married, Nov. 4, 1875, in Brooklyn, N.Y., by the Rev. Dr. A. P. Putnam, to Mary Thompson Frothingham, daughter of John W. and Mary A. Frothingham.

CHARLES AUSTIN MACKINTOSH. Born in West Roxbury, Mass., Aug. 25, 1853. Left the class towards the close of Senior year; in Aug., 1874, began the study of law in the office of Judge Colburn, at Dedham, Mass.; in September, 1875, upon examination by Judge Dewey of the Superior Court, was admitted to practise law in all the courts of the Commonwealth; immediately after this became associated with Don Gleason Hill, under the firm name of Hill & Mackintosh, who have continued as attorneys and counsellors-at-law, at Dedham, Mass.; was a delegate to the Democratic Gubernatorial Convention held at Worcester, Mass., in September, 1876.

FRANCIS HENRY MATTHEWS. Born in Boston, Mass., Dec. 28, 1851. Left college at the end of the Freshman year; writes: "Leaving college with the intention of learning the wool business, I have since been engaged in handling the staple. The business has proved one much to my liking. Although I have seen great depression of trade at different periods, causing so-called financial crashes, I have no complaints to make, but consider the experience of the last four years worth considerable, inasmuch as I have not been 'fleeced,' nor had the 'wool pulled over my eyes.' I am now doing business under my own name, at No. 49 Federal Street, and still reside at Jamaica Plain, Mass."

GEORGE FRANK MERRILL. Born in Corinth, Me., Feb. 3, 1849. Left college during Freshman year. (Secretary has heard nothing from him: but understands that he studied medicine for some time after leaving college; was settled for a while in Hartland, Me.; is said to be now residing in Cambridge, Me., and is married; but when and to whom are not known.)

OTIS OSGOOD ORDWAY. Born in Hamilton, Mass., Oct. 30, 1845. Left the Class near the close of the Freshman year; in the fall of 1871 entered Brown University, and was graduated therefrom with the Class of 1874, receiving the degree of A.B.; for the next two years studied for the ministry, at the Newton Theological Institution, at Newton Centre, Mass.; June 13, 1876, was ordained as pastor of the Baptist Church in Farmington, Me., remaining there until April, 1877; while at Farmington was chaplain of the Superior Court of Franklin County, Me., for one term; is now residing in Pepperell, Mass.

EDMUND QUINCY SEWALL OSGOOD. Born in Cohasset, Mass., Feb. 26, 1851. Was obliged to leave the Class and to withdraw from college duties before the close of the Freshman year, on account of a severe attack of sickness; resumed his studies in the fall of 1871, with the Class of 1875, with whom he was graduated, receiving the degree of A.B.; in September following entered the Unitarian Divinity School in Cambridge, where he has since remained.

CHARLES EDWARD PERKINS. Born in Hallowell, Me., April 16, 1851. Left college at the end of the first term of Freshman year. (The Secretary is unable to give any information concerning him.)

LOUIS ATHERTON POPE. Born in Brookline, Mass., Oct. 6, 1852. Left the Class at the end of the first term of the Freshman year, on account of poor health; after travelling through the West, and especially in the Pacific States, returned home, and, in the fall of 1871 entered the Class of 1874 of Brown University, with which he was graduated, receiving the degree of A.B.; the following September began to study for the ministry, at the Newton Theological Institution, from which he will be graduated June 13, 1877.

WILLIAM LAWRENCE PORTER. Born in Albany, N.Y., Nov. 2., 1853. Left the Class at the end of Freshman year; in the fall of 1871 joined the Class of 1875, with which he was graduated, receiving the degree of A.B.; the first year after graduation studied law at the Albany Law School, and the past year has been continuing his legal studies in the office of Porter, Lowney, Soren, & Stone, in New York City. (Has made no report to the Secretary.)

SAMUEL PARKMAN SHAW. Born in Waterville, Me., Jan. 27, 1852. Left college at the end of Freshman year; soon after went to Europe, and remained abroad for three years, devoting the time to studying, and travelling extensively; returned home in July, 1874, and has since been with White, Payson, & Co., of Boston, dry goods commission merchants, and selling agents of the Manchester Mills, of Manchester, N.H.; was married at the English Chapel in Dresden, Saxony, June 10, 1874, to Caroline Gertrude Bramwell, of New York City; Nov. 20, 1875, Gertrude Bramwell Shaw was born; is now residing in Longwood, Mass.; is a subscriber to the Class Fund.

DAVID STUBERT STEPHENS. Born in Springfield, Ohio, May 12, 1848. Joined the Class at the beginning of Senior year, having graduated at Adrian College, Mich., and there occupied the position of professor of logic and rhetoric; came to Cambridge to devote himself solely to the study of philosophy; on account of ill-health was unable to continue his studies, and left college before the close of the year. (The Secretary has been unable to obtain any information concerning him since he left the Class.)

EUGENE FRANCIS WARNER. Born in Quidneck, R.I., Oct. 9, 1853. Left the Class at the end of Freshman year; in the fall of 1871 joined the Class of 1874 of Brown University, and was graduated therefrom in June, 1875, receiving the degree of A.B.; since then has been studying law in Providence, R.I., first with the late James Parsons, and latterly in the office of Joseph E. Spink, Esq., 65 Westminster Street, in that city; will apply for admission to the bar next September.

JOSEPH WARREN WARREN. Born in Charlestown, Mass., June 5, 1851. Left college at the end of Freshman year; was for some time clerk in a banking house in Boston; then went to Europe, where he remained for two or three years; the past year has been attending lectures at the Law School of Boston University, and has also read law during the year in his father's office, at 54 Devonshire Street, Boston; writes: "The Boston University is very greedy of A.B.'s, and published my name in the catalogue as an A.B. Notwithstanding my correction in the proof, it still remained: and I explain it as a kind of an ablative construction; that is, Harvard being in the ablative governed by ab, — in fact an ablative of departure, as it were."

HENRY TODD WASHBURN. Born in Northampton, Mass., Aug. 15, 1852. Closed his connection with the college in September, 1873; in October following went into the employ of Jordan, Marsh, & Co., in Boston, and is now in the wholesale department connected with that house.

CHARLES HORACE WATSON, son of Peter Hill and Roselle (Pike) Watson, was born in Washington, D.C., March 6, 1851; was fitted for college at the West Newton (Mass.) English and Classical School, and entered the Class at the July examinations in 1870; he died of typhoid pneumonia, Dec. 17, 1876, at Ashtabula, Ohio. Nearly two years of our college course he was with us, and, in that time, his genial disposition and frank, outspoken ways won for him many warm friends, who will ever cherish his memory. The following is from a letter written by his father to the Secretary, in response to inquiries concerning his history since he left college, and the circumstances of his death : —

“On leaving college, he engaged in the profession of journalism, under Horace White, Esq., then editor of the “Chicago Daily Tribune,” deeming that profession more suited to his tastes and acquirements than that of the law, for which he had strong predilections. He soon found, however, that his health was unequal to the night work which news-writing for a daily morning paper inexorably demands, and, after struggling for a year against this difficulty, he was compelled by ill-health to abandon journalism as a career. After resting, under medical advice, about two years, to recuperate his health, he entered upon the study of the law, at Rochester, N.Y., and was progressing as favorably as he could wish, when, on visiting Ashtabula, he took a severe cold which simultaneously affected his lungs, and brought on typhoid fever, that in a few days terminated fatally, as unexpectedly to him as to his friends. He was conscious to the last moment, and met death with calm confidence in the justice and goodness of God.”

DAVID WATTS. Born in Cumberland County, Pa., Dec. 5, 1852. Left college at the end of the Freshman year ; writes, from Harrisburg, Pa., as follows : “After leaving college I came home, and spent about eighteen months, doing nothing but enjoying a lazy country life. Jan. 1, 1872, I obtained a position as sort of clerk with Mr. Henry McCormick, who is largely engaged in the manufacture of iron. I first worked in the office of the Furnaces known as the ‘Paxton Furnaces,’ for about five months ; then I was sent to Fairview, a small town in this vicinity, to work in the office of the ‘Harrisburg Nail Works.’ I lived at Fairview for eight months, when I was taken sick with typhoid fever ; after an illness of three months, I returned to the nail works, but was shortly transferred to Harrisburg, where a main office was then opened. I have been in charge of the main office up to the present time, with every prospect of staying here for some time to come.”

HUGH LAWRENCE WHITE. Born in Freeport, Pa., June 15, 1851. Left college in the middle of the Sophomore year ; since then has been engaged in the lumber business in Williamsport, Pa., with the firm of White, Leutz, & White, his father being senior member, and an uncle the junior member, of the firm ; is now, while still in the employ of the above firm, carrying on business on his own account, having his lumber yards at Du Bois City, Clearfield County, Pa. ; has taken an active part in National, State, and local politics, generally in the interest of the Democratic party; was married, Sept. 15, 1874, by the Rev. George F. Cain, at Williamsport, Pa., to Euphemia A., daughter of Abel and Elizabeth Du Bois, of that city; March 7, 1876, Bessie G. White was born.

PERRY PENTZ WILLIAMS. Born at Mamaroneck, N.Y., Aug. 25, 1853. Left the Class at the end of Sophomore year; since then has been in business in New York City; is a member of 7th Regiment, National Guard, of New York. (Has made no report to the Secretary.)

LINCOLN DEWEY WRIGHT. Born in Chicago, Ill., Feb. 25, 1853. Left college at the end of Sophomore year; is now an artist, in Chicago, Ill., having his rooms at 17 Portland Block, in that city.

DANIEL BECHTEL YOUNG. Born in Reading, Pa., Nov. 25, 1852. Left college at the end of Freshman year; studied law for three years, in his father's office, in Reading, Pa.; Jan. 10, 1876, was admitted to the bar of the Twenty-third Judicial Circuit of Pennsylvania, and since then has been practising law with his father, at 617 Penn Street, in Reading; intends soon to remove to Rockland, Ill., to engage in his profession; is a subscriber to the Class Fund.

CLASS BABY.

CLARENCE ALAN MCGREW. He was born in Camden, N.J., on Saturday, March 20, 1875, at 11.45 P.M. He directed his father to immediately present his claim for the Class Cradle; and the fond parent was not slow to comply. As there were no contestants, he was adjudged to have established his claim, and to have won the much-coveted emblem. He has led a comparatively quiet life, residing with his parents, and is at present devoting himself to the acquirement of a liberal education by mastering the alphabet. He is said to walk and run with the greatest of ease; but, so far as known, has not taken part in any athletic sports. He has not yet presented himself at Commencement; but, as he will probably overcome his scruples against punch upon reaching a more mature age, we may hope to make his acquaintance at some future time. Soon after his second birthday, he sent his picture to the Secretary, stating his weight at that time to be thirty pounds. His appearance impressed the Secretary with such a profound respect and admiration for one so young that he decided to let the Class see who was the recipient of its gift.

The parents, after careful deliberation, having expressed to the Secretary, at his desire, their decided preference for a cradle, an order was immediately given to have an elegant one made, with the proper appointments. When completed, it proved to be a very elaborate affair, made of black walnut. On the headboard was carved the seal of the College, and the name and date of birth of the baby; and on the footboard the words, "Presented by the Class of 1874." It was carefully packed, and shipped to Camden, N.J.; and, upon its arrival there, gave entire satisfaction to the parents and their friends.

CLASS FUND.

The Subscriptions to the Class Fund have been as follows : —

1 subscription of	$300.00	$300.00
4 " 	200.00	800.00
2 " 	150.00	300.00
31 " 	100.00	3,100.00
3 " 	75.00	225.00
54 " 	50.00	2,700.00
26 " 	25.00	650.00
<hr/>		<hr/>
121		$8,075.00

These subscriptions are payable in five yearly instalments, the fourth instalment being due this year. The amounts severally received and unpaid of the several instalments are as follows : —

	Amount received.	Amount due and unpaid.
First instalment	$1,585.00	$30.00
Second " 	1,490.00	125.00
Third " 	1,300.00	315.00
Fourth " 	910.00	705.00
	<hr/>	<hr/>
	$5,285.00	$1,175.00
Received from ten Subscribers,
Fifth Instalment	$155.00
New subscriptions	15.00
Premium on gold draft credited to subscriber	5.65
Total received from subscriptions .	$5,460.65

The money has been deposited in Savings Banks from time to time as received, but has not been permanently invested. The first year after graduation these banks paid six per cent interest ; the next year the rate was reduced to five per cent, as required by law; and the past year another reduction to four per cent has been made. The amount of interest received to April 18, 1877, is $346.64.

Some of the deposits will be withdrawn from the Savings Banks in the fall, and, after due inquiry, will be invested in such a manner that the highest rate of interest may be received compatible with the greatest security.

CLASS SUBSCRIPTION FUND.

The subscriptions to the Class Subscription Fund have been as follows : —

2	subscriptions of	$200.00	$400.00
2	„	100.00	200.00
17	„	50.00	850.00
21				$1,450.00

These subscriptions are payable in ten yearly instalments, the third instalment being due this year. The amounts severally received and unpaid of the instalments are as follows : —

	Amount received.	Amount due and unpaid.
First instalment	$115.00	$30.00
Second „	100.00	45.00
Third „	80.00	50.00

	$295.00	$130.00
Received balance in full of one subscription	70.00
Total received	$365.00

There has been paid over to the chairman of the committee of the Alumni, having charge of this fund, the sum of $359.00, as appears more fully from the statement at the end of this report. The Secretary has not yet been called to account for the failure on the part of the Class to make a creditable subscription to this fund; when such action is taken, he will consider it his duty to make another appeal to the Class, which it is hoped will meet with a more generous response. Other classes before and after us have contributed largely to this fund, while we are apparently wanting in a proper appreciation of the benefits conferred upon us by the college.

CLASS CRADLE FUND.

At the time the first report of the Secretary was submitted to the Class, shortly after graduation, seventy-seven members of the Class had paid the assessment of one dollar levied for the purposes of this fund; forty-four dollars were subsequently received in the same way, and, after paying for the Cradle and its appointments, and the expenses of shipment, there was a balance of three dollars remaining, which was carried to the account of the Class Fund.

REPORTS OF MEETINGS.

FIRST MEETING, Nov. 17, 1874.

The meeting was held at the Parker House, Boston, in accordance with the call of the Secretary, to take action on the death of our classmate, William Samuel Eliot.

The meeting was called to order by the Secretary at 12.15 P. M., and Bro. R. H. Dana was called to the chair. On motion of Bro. H. R. Grant, a committee, consisting of Bros. H. R. Grant, H. L. Morse, and Wigglesworth, was appointed by the chairman to prepare resolutions to the memory of our deceased classmate. The resolutions as presented by the committee were unanimously adopted, and were as follows : —

[RESOLUTIONS.*]

It was then voted, on motion of Bro. Merwin, That a copy of the above resolutions be sent to the parents of our deceased classmate, and also to the College papers for publication ; but that, instead of printing the resolutions in the daily papers, that a notice of the meeting and its proceedings should only be published therein.

The death of our classmate, Nicholas Reed, was then announced ; and, on motion of Bro. Coale, the chairman appointed a committee, consisting of Bros. Coale, Patton, and H. Richards, to draft a series of resolutions to his memory. The Secretary was instructed to forward these resolutions to the widow of our deceased classmate ; the resolutions to be formally presented and accepted at the next meeting of the class.

It was voted that upon adjournment the meeting attend the funeral of W. S. Eliot, at Emanuel Church, in Boston.

Adjourned.

GEORGE P. SANGER, JR., Secretary.

SECOND MEETING, June 16, 1875.

The meeting was held at the Parker House, Boston, in accordance with the call of the Secretary, to pay respect to the memory of our late classmate, James Jackson Cabot.

* I have not deemed it necessary to print in the Report these Resolutions. A copy of them was sent to each member of the Class ; and they may be seen in the Class-Book by any one desiring it.

The meeting was called to order by the Secretary at 12.15 P. M., and Bro. Goodwin was called to the chair. On motion of Bro. H. L. Morse, a committee, consisting of Bros. H. L. Morse, Cunningham, and Allen, was appointed by the chairman to prepare suitable resolutions to the memory of our late classmate. The resolutions as presented by the committee were unanimously adopted.

The resolutions to the memory of our classmate Nicholas Reed, prepared by the committee appointed at the last meeting of the class, were adopted.

On motion of Bro. H. L. Morse, it was voted, That the resolutions adopted at this and at the previous meeting be printed, and forwarded by the Secretary to each member of the class.

Adjourned.

GEORGE P. SANGER, JR., Secretary.

THIRD MEETING, June 30, 1875.

This was the annual commencement meeting, and was held at Holworthy 4, and was called to order at 12 M.

The Secretary's report of the finances of the class was read and accepted.

The action of the Secretary in the disposition of the Class Cradle Fund was approved by the meeting.

Adjourned.

GEORGE P. SANGER, JR., Secretary.

FOURTH MEETING, June 22, 1876.

The meeting was held at the Parker House, Boston, in accordance with the call of the Secretary, to take appropriate action in the death of our late classmate, Henry Houghton Williams. The meeting was called to order by the Secretary at 3.20 P. M., and Bro. G. W. White was called to the chair.

On motion of Bro. Merwin, it was voted, That, instead of the usual resolutions adopted by the class, that a letter of condolence be prepared by a committee, and forwarded to the parents of our deceased classmate. Bros. Merwin, Woodward, and Hill were then appointed by the chairman to constitute that committee, and the letter as presented by them was adopted by the meeting.

Remarks were then made by the chairman and Bros. Hill, Coale, and D. L. Withington, eulogizing the character of the deceased.

Adjourned.

GEORGE P. SANGER, JR., Secretary.

FIFTH MEETING, June 28, 1876.

This was the annual commencement meeting, and was held at Holworthy 4, and was called to order at 12 M.

The Secretary's report of the finances was then read ; and a committee, consisting of Bros. Minot, Penhallow, and W. R. Tyler, were appointed to examine the accounts of the Secretary, to approve the same if found correct, and to report their action at the next meeting of the class.

Adjourned.

GEORGE P. SANGER, JR., Secretary.
